

Days 7 & 8 - Chester to Longton (Preston)

● Ian went via Liverpool and was delighted with taking the ferry across the Mersey and visiting the Tate Liverpool while it chucked it down with rain. Ian cheated here and only did 45 miles whereas hardcore Han and persevering Pa did 60 miles (in the rain) and had to change front tyres and overcome other obstacles encountered but overcame. Had an Indian takeaway very tasty and we actually watched the chaps cook it. Pa and Ian had an interesting experience when Hannah discovered a hairdrier and squealed with joy and jumped up and down giggling. We looked at each other with an astonished gaze and put it down to experience. Ian painted ducks for Lynn near where she grew up.

● Preston - Windermere

The breakfast was very nice. 55 mile stretch leg. Preston was busy with school children everywhere and lollipop ladies (Dad said it was the invasion of). Han and Dad encountered some dangerous roads following the satnav's directions. Ian went off and goofed out
