

"A to Z" of child sponsorship with C.H.I.

What is a child sponsor?

- A Child Sponsor is a person or group contributing the equivalent of £15.00 per month towards the education of a child or young person.
- A child sponsor is someone who cares about the education of children in developing countries, who wants to see these children and young people grow up with a good education and hopefully, a personal knowledge of Christ.

What do I need to do to be a sponsor?

- Donate (as regularly as possible) £15 per month towards the cost of keeping your sponsored child in school in Africa.
- Correspond with your sponsored child. As an interested and caring believer, the love you show through correspondence and prayer will hopefully point your sponsored child towards Jesus.

What does the money I give do for the child?

- The £15 you donate will enable us to support the child through Primary School education.
- At Secondary level, your £15 will make a significant contribution towards paying the school fees. Secondary education is much more expensive as it may also include board and lodging as the majority of secondary schools in Central Africa are residential.

Who chooses the children on the programme?

- All the children on our Ray of Hope Programme have been recommended to us either by the local school, the local parish (who are aware of the family's finances) or by the diocese which is responsible for managing the church schools.

What about the spiritual life of the sponsored children?

- The vast majority of our sponsored children are in church managed schools where their spiritual development is encouraged.

Uganda

The children in our Ray of Hope project in the Kijjabwemi, Uganda have lost one or both parents and are from needy families.

All of them are educated in Church run Primary and Secondary schools.

Christian Hope International currently supports around 240 children on our Education Sponsorship Programme in Africa.

Rwanda

Children are sponsored in three dioceses in Rwanda - Gasabo, Kibungo and Byumba. We work with the local Churches to provide education for the most needy children
